

MEMO

To: Instructor Kyle Fromm

From: Paralegal Student Jack Graue

Re: Lexis+ AI Capabilities

Date: December 7th, 2025

You have asked me to review the AI capabilities of Lexis+ AI. Below are my takeaways from the provided information that I find to be the most significant.

LexisNexis is a legal software that is meant to simplify legal research. While that is a helpful tool on its own, Lexis+ AI is a group of tools available within the software supported by AI. At first glance, I find the most intriguing tool to be the 'Generate a Draft' tool. Using this, a legal professional or attorney can create an AI-generated letter, clause, or other important document. This would save a tremendous amount of time for a paralegal who would draft multiple documents every day. However, it is of crucial importance for the user of this tool to remain focused on what they are trying to accomplish and not let AI do all or most of the work for them.

Secondly, the 'Summarize' tool would be hugely helpful. This tool allows the user to summarize court cases. In the event of a legal professional only needing the 'brass tacks' of a case, this tool would be quite advantageous.

I look forward to using tools like these as I near the start of my legal career.

Jack Graue